

Welcome to ITV - The Week-End College!

You are enrolled in:

History 11 (7986) (UC: CSU) 3 Units

Political and Social History of the United States I

A survey of major events, personages, and themes most significant to the political, economics, and social development of this nation from its New World beginnings through the Civil War. It meets the American History and Institutions requirements for the California State University system and the Social and Behavioral Sciences requirements for all universities.

The Weekend College classes combine video lessons with online activities and weekend class meetings. You should complete all three components to successfully pass the class. The course requirements are in the online syllabus. If you have questions contact your instructor via email or by telephone during their office hours listed above.

Getting Started

Even though you do not meet with your instructor until the second weekend after the semester begins, the online component begins February 9, 2009. Follow the checklist below to get started in your class now.

1. Choose a Campus

Select the campus to attend your weekend class and make note of its time and location.

2. Buy Your Books

The back of this page lists the required and recommend books for your course. Buy your books as soon as possible so that you can get started on your assigned readings. Textbooks can be purchased at City, Southwest, Mission, Valley, and Pierce Colleges or from most online bookstores.

3. Log In

The class website opens February 9, log in and read your course syllabus. It will list all assignments and quizzes times and due dates. You can find log-in instructions on the last page of this letter.

4. Email Your Instructor

Once you have logged in, email your instructor and let him know that you have successfully logged in to the class website.

5. Plan Your Schedule

Weekend College courses are fast paced—covering a lot of material in a short period of time. At a minimum, you can expect to spend 10 to 12 hours per week completing the assignments. Schedule time in advance for reading the textbooks, watching the video episodes, and completing the online assignments. If you plan to watch or record the videos on the educational cable channel LA 36, also note those times and set your Tivo or DVD recorder in advance. You can find the broadcast schedules on the back of this page

Classroom Location Schedule

Attend class at any one of the four campuses: L.A. City, L.A. Pierce, Southwest or L.A. Valley College. The instructor teaches at all four locations.

Day	Campus	Time	Location
Saturday	L.A. City College	9:00 A.M. – 12 Noon	DaVinci Hall, Rm. 307
	Southwest College	1:30 P.M. – 4:30 P.M.	Lecture Lab., Rm. 114
Sunday	L.A. Pierce College	9:00 A.M. – 12 Noon	Business Bldg., Rm. 3206
	L.A. Valley College	1:30 P.M. – 4:30 P.M.	Foreign Language Bldg., Rm. 108

Attendance at the class meetings is expected.
 If you fail to attend, you may be dropped from class.

4. Watch the video lessons at the Learning Resource Centers at City, Pierce, Southwest, Valley, and Mission Colleges. You must bring your student ID or fee receipt to view the videos.

Welcome to U.S. History 11! My name is Garry Roleder and I am looking forward to being your instructor for the course. I have been teaching history in the Los Angeles Community College District for over 12 years, eight of those years with Instructional TV. Prior to that I was in the U.S. Navy as a career officer and experienced some history first hand, particularly while steaming off Lebanon in 1983. Since this is Los Angeles and heart of the movie industry I have appeared in a number of films and television shows as a character actor over the past several years, including such "stellar" productions as Wag the Dog, The Asylum and episodes of ER. However, my main focus is teaching, and, while I don't intend to put on any kind of show during class, I do hope I can make the subject lively and as interesting as possible.

This course is an extensive survey of the history of the United States beginning with the earliest years of exploration by the Spanish, French and English. We will then begin to focus our attention on the activities of the English along the eastern coast of North America in the 17th and 18th Centuries. This is known as the Colonial Era since the country we now live in, the United States, was not yet born. We will then concentrate on a number of significant events that I believe are core to molding the economic, social and political realities of present day America. Much of this is quite sweeping in extent, including a bunch of wars such as the Revolution, War of 1812, Mexican-American War and of course the worst of all, the Civil War (Americans back then were a garrulous lot...). We will also take a look at the old "Wild West" (which wasn't much beyond the Appalachian Mountains in the days just following the Revolution) and the growth of various political movements in the early and middle parts of the 19th century, which became elemental reasons for the Civil War and eventual destruction of slavery.

The course includes a very well produced set of videos that I think you will enjoy. They are broken up into 26 half hour episodes that were made in a documentary style with extraordinary commentary by several distinguished American historians, and illustrated by representative artwork of the day, as well as some arresting photographs after that technology came into wide use by the mid-Nineteenth century. The first videos air on Tuesday, 17 Feb 09 and then every succeeding Tuesday to the end of the course.

The course is short: only eight weeks in which to cover a lot of territory. Our first class is not until the weekend of 21/22 February. At that class we will do an overview of the course, and discuss the very early years of exploration of the continent and what colonial life was like. HOWEVER, despite the fact we do not meet the weekend following the start of the course (14/15 Feb 09), there are activities due ONLINE: Starting on Monday, 09 Feb, three significant writing assignments, quizzes, and a discussion topic will open. Additionally, there are also a number of EXTRA CREDIT opportunities available at that time. For the EXTRA CREDIT: 1) Just click on the topic History Website in the Discussions and Private Messages section after you have successfully logged into the course website using the instructions included in this letter. 2) Another activity you can complete for extra credit is the Syllabus Quiz under Tasks, Tests and Surveys section. Click on the Syllabus Quiz, after you have read the syllabus. The remaining quizzes will be opened, per the syllabus, as we move on in the course. 3) Finally, in the Assignments section is an extra credit opportunity. Just click on Introduce Yourself and follow the directions. Once you have completed the extra credit, you will be familiar with each activity section of the course website, and should start immediately working on the first assignments, quizzes and discussion topic...(they will be DUE by our first class meeting!!)

Make sure to thoroughly read or download the course syllabus. It has all the information on course requirements and grading structure. You are welcome to explore the rest of the site as well, though you will find that some of it is closed to input at the moment, and will remain so until we reach certain sections of the course.

Again, welcome to the course. Your participation is vital to making the course meaningful not only to yourself but to the other students enrolled. I believe you will find it stimulating and somewhat out of the ordinary from traditional history courses you may have taken in the past.
