

Instructions for using MOODLE

<http://moodle.lamission.edu>

1. @ login area – click on “create new account”
2. Enter a user name and password - remember these!
enter your email address – note: this must be an active address where you can receive the following email.
3. Log on to your email account. Look for an email from “remote learner admin”.
note: This email may go into your Spam folder – make sure to check your inbox and spam.
4. In the email text it will state “To confirm your new account, please go to this web address:”
click on that link.
5. On the Moodle page – login using your username and password
6. In the center of the page, under “course categories” –
click on Summer 2009 – On Campus (not Online Classes)
7. Click on this course : Human Physiology – Prof. Gary Covitt
8. Enter the enrollment key – this will be given to you in class.

That’s it. In the future you will only have to go to the Moodle page and login, select the course. Under Lecture notes – click on the chapter that you want to view. Print these notes and bring them to class. Later, some essay assignments will also be posted on this page.